

QuadPro™ Tendon Harvester

Product Highlight

Arthrex pioneered quadriceps tendon (QT) autograft harvesting in 2014 with the minimally invasive QT harvest instrument set, allowing a much easier and more reproducible harvest of the quad tendon.

The QuadPro tendon harvester is the next evolution in graft harvesting for ACL reconstruction (ACLR). It was specifically engineered to allow for efficient, safe graft harvesting while reducing the morbidity and challenges associated with traditional quad harvesting techniques.

Features and Benefits

- Reproducible Harvesting: Available in multiple sizes to accommodate surgeon preferences and each patient's needs. The transparent handle enables direct visualization of the graft during harvesting to enable accurate harvest length.
- Minimally Invasive Harvesting: The sharp cylindrical tip safely and reliably cores out a smooth cylindrical graft. The graft is easily amputated through the cutting window. New harvesting technique reduces graft-site morbidity and overall procedure time.
- Versatility: Compatible with either all-soft-tissue or bone block (BQT) harvesting techniques, and harvesting can be performed using a small transverse incision or a traditional longitudinal incision.
